PRIMARY SERVICES

Architecture Heery was founded as an architectural firm. Today's design practice is known for its responsive and resourceful solutions to the specific needs of healthcare, sports, justice, higher education, corporate and government clients.

Engineering Engineering has been an integral service line at Heery since the early 1970s. Heery provides the full range of building engineering and was one of the first companies in the industry to offer energy consulting services. Today, Heery is known as a leader in sustainability and building energy conservation.

Interior Design Heery's award-winning interior design services go beyond finishes and furnishings selection to consider the entire three-dimensional interior environment, creating solutions that are both beautiful and functional.

Construction Management In the early 1990s, Heery secured its own bonding capacity and began to deliver construction management at risk services with a guaranteed maximum price, as well as design-build services for total project delivery.

Program Management As a pioneering developer of construction program management, Heery is recognized for a number of innovations in program management, such as procedures associated with cost estimating and analysis, scheduling and claims analysis.
